GUION DEL VIDEO: ADOLFO PÉREZ ESQUIVEL

"El Arte de la No Violencia"

INTRODUCCIÓN

(Imágenes de Pérez Esquivel, su obra artística, y el Premio Nobel)

NARRADOR/A:

"Good afternoon. Today we are going to talk about Adolfo Pérez Esquivel, an Argentine social leader who changed history through non-violence. He is an artist, architect, and human rights activist. He received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1980 for his work defending human rights in Latin America."

ANTECEDENTES PERSONALES

(Fotos de su infancia, Buenos Aires, sus pinturas)

NARRADOR/A:

"Adolfo Pérez Esquivel was born on November 26, 1931, in Buenos Aires, Argentina. His mother died when he was only three years old. As a young man, he studied architecture and sculpture. He becomes a professor of art and works as an artist. Art is very important in his life because he believes that creativity brings peace."

CUALIDADES DE LIDERAZGO

(Imágenes de marchas pacíficas, sus obras de arte, meditación)

NARRADOR/A:

"Pérez Esquivel shows many important leadership qualities. First, he practices non-violence in everything he does. He leads by example, not by force. He demonstrates courage because he speaks against military governments when many people are afraid. He uses art as a tool for social change. He inspires others through peaceful resistance and moral integrity."

LOGROS SIGNIFICATIVOS

(Fotos de la guerra de las Malvinas, la OEA, el Premio Nobel)

NARRADOR/A:

"In 1974, he founds the organization SERPAJ, which means 'Servicio de Paz y Justicia' in Spanish. This organization promotes human rights across Latin America. During the 1970s, he travels to many countries to help victims of military dictatorships. In 1980, the Nobel Committee awards him the Peace Prize. He uses the prize money to help poor communities in Latin America. He also organizes the 'Peace and Justice Service' network in several countries. In 1983, he runs for president of Argentina, but he does not win. However, he continues his work for peace."

FRASE MEMORABLE

(Imagen de Pérez Esquivel hablando, texto en pantalla)

NARRADOR/A:

"Pérez Esquivel says many important things about leadership. His most famous quote is:

'La paz no es ausencia de conflicto, sino la capacidad de manejar el conflicto por medios pacíficos.'

In English, this means: 'Peace is not the absence of conflict, but the ability to handle conflict by peaceful means.'

This shows his philosophy: he believes that true leaders solve problems without violence."

¿POR QUÉ ES UN LÍDER?

(Montaje de sus acciones actuales, educación, activismo)

NARRADOR/A:

"Today, Pérez Esquivel is 94 years old and he continues working for human rights. He teaches young people about non-violence. He writes books and gives conferences around the world. He is a leader because he chooses love over hate, dialogue over violence, and art over weapons. He proves that one person can change the world through peaceful methods."

DATOS CURIOSOS

"When he was a child, he does not have toys. He makes toys with mud and wood. This inspires him to be an artist."

"He wins the Nobel Prize in 1980. He is in Brazil and does not know. He travels fast to Oslo. He donates almost all the money to poor communities."

"Now he is 94 years old. He still works for peace. He likes tango music. He does not use Facebook or Instagram."

CONCLUSIÓN

NARRADOR/A:

"Adolfo Pérez Esquivel is an example for the next generation of leaders. He shows us that leadership is not about power or control. True leadership is about service, courage, and love for humanity. Thank you."
